Report review on Yahia Mesharaf seminar paper.

The document is well structured. However, there are some problems with the grammar. The abstract do not give a full overview of the paper, I would suggest reviewing it after the whole document has been finished.

During most parts of the documents, citations are missing. I am assuming that you did not know many things before, so citations would be required to specify which parts you took for other sources.

The seminar is easy to follow and the images help understanding most of the points. The images contain citations, what it is expected. The process on how the algorithm works is well explained and can be understood. In a personal opinion, I would change the image F3 (the one that contains a formula) and use the math library on LaTeX to write the formula. The conclusion chapter has not been yet finalized.

General corrections:

- Check grammar
- Check citations
- Complete conclusion.
